1 This or That

1.1 Such or so

One of the oldest commands concerns typesetting itemized lists. Although in principle all settings can take place at the location of an itemization, it sometimes makes sense to to this at the document level.

- one
- two
- three

Here we put the first level it item marks in the margin. To save space we also pack them. Whenever you find yourself in a situation of setting things up, you should ask yourself if it would make sense to do it at the document level. A clean document source in general leads to a more consistently typeset result.